Muktinath is a very sacred place for Hindus, Buddhist Pilgrims and ascetic Sadhus. Muktinath is said to have been consecrated in the first (good) age by Padmasamba and later in the intermediate age by the '84 great magicians'. The temple is situated in a gorge full of trees with 108 water ponds emerging from sacred water springs. Legend says that the 84 great magicians sanctified the water of Muktinath spring by sprinkling on to it water carried from holy Lake Manasarovar in Tibet. In one of the holy pools is one where natural burning gas is said to represent the eternal burning flame. As well as exploring this sacred site we'll be able to enjoy the superb mountain views from here. This evening we'll relax and reflect on today at our home for the night in a local teahouse lodge.

En route we'll visit Tashilumpo monastery, the seat of the Panchen Lama and one of the most important monasteries in Tibet. Tashilumpo lies at the foot of Drolmari, or Tara's Mountain, on the western side of Shigatse. It is one of Tibet's most influential monasteries, founded in 1477 by Gendun Drubpa, the first Dalai Lama. Inside the monastery, the Maitreya Chapel is the tallest building and houses the world's largest brass statue of Buddha at 26.2 meters (86 feet) high, seated on a 3.8 meter (12 foot) high lotus throne made of gold, brass and precious gems. A scenic drive today, around 6-7 hours, takes us to Darchen our set off point to trek to Darboche and the start of the kora around legendary Mount Kailash. Our trek today will be around 4-5 hours. Mount Kailash is believed by Buddhists, Hindus, Jains and Bons to be the centre of the universe from which spring 4 of Asia's most important life giving rivers. A single circumnambulation around Mount Kailash is said to wipe away the sins of a lifetime and this remote Tibetan mountain attracts scores of pilgrims. Heading west we'll climb up to a series of prayer flags (around 4730m altitude) and the first of the prostration stations on the pilgrimage circuit, from where we'll have fantastic views of Mt Kailash. After enjoying the view, we'll head north through Darboche and then relax this evening at our tented camp.

Day 17: Darboche

Today (spring departure only) we'll join in the wonderful Saga Dawa festival, that has been celebrated here for thousands of years. It's an important Tibetan Buddhist festival, held each year on the day of the full moon of the fourth lunar month of the Tibetan calendar, in order to celebrate Sakyamuni 's enlightenment. It's a magical event where people from all over Tibet gather to watch the flagpole being replaced, to attach their own prayer flags to it and help raise it. The custom is that the pole needs to stand perfectly upright and straight from the start, symbolising all is well with Tibet. If not perfectly straight on the first attempt it's a sign things are not good. The ceremony is led by a lama from the nearby monastery. We'll see the gathered Tibetans praying and throwing wind horses into the air (tiny pieces of coloured paper with Buddhist scriptures written on them) and helping to attach new prayer flags to the pole. All around the throngs of people will be watching with musicians and monks of the red hat order playing, horsemen galloping and everyone celebrating with a great sense of happiness and harmony all around – a truly special and spiritual occasion.

During our autumn departure we will visit the nearby sky burial site. A sky burial is the most common method of disposing of the dead in Tibet and is a private ceremony that few westerners have ever witnessed. The sky burial is said to be a time to reflect on the impermanence of life in a culture that maintains a sense of deep connection to the rhythm of life and the universe. We'll be able to visit the site as long as no sky burials are taking place – if they are we won't be permitted to visit and instead can enjoy the surrounding area, nature and views.

Day 18-19: Mount Kailash - Kora

Today and tomorrow we continue our trek, following the pilgrim route around the Kora. After a climb through the moraine and up to a meadow we'll cross the Dolma La, a high Himalayan pass at altitude 5630m. En route we'll be able to visit the cave in which the tantric saint and poet Milarepa is said to have meditated. Tonight and tomorrow we'll relax in our tented camp.

Climate and Weather

Nepal has a monsoonal two season year with the dry season from October to May and the wet season (monsoon) from June to September. From end September/start October to end November is one of the best times to visit. The vegetation is lush after the rains of the monsoon and the air is clean and fresh. The next best time to visit is February to April at the end of the dry season. It can be a little dusty at this time but the weather is warm and pleasant and its' a great time to see many wildflowers in bloom. December and January are still good in terms of climate and visibility but can be chilly particularly at higher altitudes as well as in the evening in Kathmandu. May and early June can be very hot and uncomfortable and mid June to September can be cloudy with poor visibility and muddy trails although some treks (rainshadow treks) can still be undertaken even during the monsoon.

Between May and early November are some of the best times to visit Tibet. Before and after these times the temperatures can get very low, particularly at night and in Western Tibet. May and June are pleasant but you may encounter small short lived dust storms and a wind factor. Lhasa and Shigatse in particular have very mild weather between May and November although the months of July and August can be quite rainy.

Clothing and Equipment

Generally lightweight to medium weight clothing in natural fabrics is best with warm clothing a must for the evenings and winter. For travel around Lhasa and Shigatse a warm jacket or windbreaker should be fine. For visits to more remote areas including Everest Base Camp, a warm down jacket, hat and gloves are suitable. It's also useful to wear several layers of clothing as temperatures can change suddenly. We also suggest you take comfortable walking shoes and a small day pack or shoulder bag. In the mountains and at high altitude the weather can change rapidly so it is important to have appropriate clothing and equipment. On fully provisioned camping style treks we provide twin share dome or A frame sleeping tents, kitchen tent, mess tent, toilet tent, tables, chairs, stools, lanterns/candles, thin sleeping mattresses, all crockery and cutlery and a fully equipped kitchen set up. Upon booking with us we will send you a suggested clothing and equipment list appropriate to your trip including details of any must have items or items that can be hired (if required).

Baggage Allowance

We request that you aim for a maximum weight of 15 to 20 kg for your main baggage including clothing and personal equipment. Many of our trips involve porters and/or local flights and 15kg is the maximum safe weight allowance for porters and permitted on local flights. International flights will usually permit up to 20kg maximum weight. If trekking, some additional baggage can usually be stored until you return from your trek. Remember you may also want to leave some weight allowance for any items you have bought during your trip! The Himalayan Adventure Company and our local partners are not responsible for excess baggage charges.

On confirmation of booking we will provide a complimentary Himalayan Adventure Company travel gift. In the past, gifts have included items such as trek bags and t-shirts and vary each season, and we aim to provide useful gifts which can be used and enjoyed during your trip with us and afterwards.

Passport and Visa Requirements

A full valid passport and a current visa is required for all trips and treks. Passports must have at least 6 months validity after the completion date of your trip. To secure your booking and avoid any additional charges, information (eg spelling of name) provided to us on your booking form must match exactly the details as shown in your passport.

To enter Nepal you will require a visa which can be obtained in advance from the Royal Nepalese Embassy in London (UK applications) or on arrival at the airport in Kathmandu for a fee of US$25. The visa process has changed in 2008 and all visas are now multiple entry. We will provide up to date information on visa requirements, costs and the application process on confirmation of your booking or on request.

To enter Tibet all foreign travellers are required to have a separate visa valid for Tibet as well as a Tibetan Tourist Visa. Permit and visa regulations for Tibet are subject to change on a yearly and sometimes monthly basis. Through our local representatives in Nepal we will make arrangements for your Tibetan visa and entry requirements, as issued by the Tibetan Tourism Authority under the Chinese authorities who control all visas and permits and travel to and within Tibet. The Chinese Authorities have recently changed the visa fees and processing time for travel to Tibet for 2010 which are now as follows.

VISA TYPE	Normal	Urgent	Top Urgent
US PASSPORT HOLDER	US$144 (appro x GBP£89)	US$166 (appro x GBP£103)	US$200(approx GBP£124)
OTHER NATIONALITY e.g. British passport holders	US$60 (appro x GBP£37)	US$82 (approx GBP£51)	US$114(appro x GBP£71)
Please note visa fee is charged in GBP at the equivalent rate to the US dollar fee valid at the time of booking

For all of the Tibet visa fees above we require a clear copy of each traveller's passport at least 10 days in advance to begin the application process. The hard copy of your passport must then be handed over after arrival in Kathmandu for the final stage of processing and visa stamp. If the passport hard is handed over to us on or before 7 working days ahead of departure time for Tibet the Normal Visa Fee will apply. If we receive your passport 5 days ahead of departure time the Urgent Visa Fees will apply and if it's 2 days ahead the Top Urgent Visa Fees will apply. These visa/permit fees are set by the Chinese authorities and are subject to change. As part of our service we arrange at no extra cost your Tibet visa/permit and collect the applicable visa fees on behalf of the Chinese authorities as required.

Please note that Tibet remains one of the most captivating but least developed part of the world and facilities for tourists can be quite basic and limited although are being continually improved. Travel in Tibet is an adventure involving high altitude, at times rough roads and can be strenuous. We will put every effort into making your journey as comfortable and enjoyable as possible but emphasize that travel in Tibet requires a willingness to accept flexibility and a spirit of adventure. If you are unsure that this type of travel is suitable for you please consider this carefully or speak to one of our office team before making a booking.

How to Book

If you'd like to book this trek contact our office to check availability and ask any questions you may have. Please read our Terms and Conditions prior to making your booking.
